Owensboro Won Tuesday.

The Henderson-Owensboro series, transferred here from Henderson, was opened Tuesday at Leacue by Owensboro's defeating the Hens by a score of 6 to 4. The O'bore team had worlds of ginger and were on their toes all through the game. Gross and Hancock, two portside fingers, did the mound work. Hancock had the Hens eating out of his hands in the sixth frame, when he loosened up and allowed 2 runs. Two more were gotten later by Snyder's bunch. The Owensboro boys seemed to be all set to hit Southampton Gross's offerings at will. The second game was played yesterday and the last is scheduled for to-day.

School Talk

The County Schools will start Monday, and as usual with our up-to-date methods of doing business, we will have a full stock of the state adopted books on hand.

The change recently made by the Commission will necessitate the purchase by us of all new books and they have to come from many places at the present time. We think, however, that in a short time all of these matters will adjust themselves and we will be able at all times to meet the requirements of the people of our county.

Books are billed to us for cash and no books are consigned. The percentage of profit is very small and consequently all books will be sold for cash. We have the largest and best assorted line of Tablets, School Baskets, Satchels, Pencils, Crayon, Slates, Box Paper, Fountain Pens, Ink and in fact everything in ship shape to handle the business for the entire county, provided it is entrusted to us.

We want to please and shall do everything in our power to keep books on hand. While purchasing your books and school supplies don't fail to take a look at our line of Cut Glass, Haviland China and Aluminum Ware.

MEN IN MIND IN HOPKINSVILLE

People of Prominence In The Pearl City of The Pennyroyal.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 41.

President of the F. A. Yost
Co., Whose Growth In 8
Years Has Been Marvelous.

It has been said that the man who can be a successful farmer is qualified for business in almost any line. At any rate some of Hopkinsville's best business men got their starts tilling the soil. The president of one of the biggest mercantile houses on Main Street is in this class. Delbert D. Cayce, president of the F. A. Yost Co., was born in the Southern part of Christian county in 1867, being one of the several sons of Thos. J. Cayce. He grew to manhood, married and established a home for himself on a farm, but fifteen years ago felt the impulse that draws many people to the cities and decided to move to Hopkinsville.

D. D. CAYCE.

His first business connection was with the McCormick Harvesting Co., as traveling salesman, at which he was very successful for two years. In 1902 he was one of the organizers of a hardware company with which he retained his connection for four years. In the year 1907 he closed out his interest and in connection with H. A. Yost, who was then continuing the harness and buggy business of F. A. Yost & Co., formed a new company which was incorporated as the F. A. Yost Co. The small quarters on the West side of Main street were exchanged for the big three-story building on the Northeast corner of Main and Tenth. Here the new company began to develop rapidly as one of the substantial concerns of the city, Mr. Cayce being president and Mr. Yost secretary.

New departments were added as the business expanded and additional buildings were secured, fronting Virginia street. The company now has a three-story building 38 by 90 feet, a two-story ware room 65 by 165 and a building used for the horseshoeing department. Everything in the harness and saddle line is handled and full lines of hardware, implements, paints, oils, seeds, fertilizers and buggies. The company has built up an enormous business in huggies, having a record of 16 sold in one day. Heavy hardware is a leading line, including fences, building hardware, roofing and farm machinery of all kinds.

Mr. Cayce is a Democrat and was for a number of years committee-man in his precinct. He was this year a member of the board of city tax supervisors. He is a member of the Christian church and a deacon in his church.

He is prominently identified with the H. B. M. A., and has been Director of that organization for two years. He is enterprising, energetic and possesses the faculty of making himself popular with the public. With qualities like these, it is but natural that he has made a successful merchant. His company has now reached such proportions that it gives employment to a corps of 20 agents and salesmen required to handle the big business.

Mr. Cayce recently purchased a beautiful home on the corner of Main and Twentieth street, where he and his family reside.

BANKER HAS PASSED AWAY

A. Bradley Croft, Aged 82,
Honors The Last Draft
Monday.

A. Bradley Croft, one of the county's oldest and most prominent citizens, died at his home in Crofton, Monday afternoon, aged 82 years. He was born Feb. 8, 1832, on a farm near where he died and had lived all of his life in that vicinity. He was an elder brother of the late J. E. Croft, for whom the town of Crofton was named. He had been in business in Crofton for many years and was one of the chief organizers of the Bank of Crofton, of which he was made president. He was a landowner and capitalist and one of the wealthy men of his section.

He was married in 1874 to Miss Marcella Campbell, of this county, who survives him and to them was born one daughter, now the wife of Dr. Edward Williams, of Morton's Gap. Other surviving kindred are his half-brother, Geo. B. Croft, of near this city, and numerous relatives in North Christian.

Mr. Croft was a member of the Christian church and a leader in church affairs.

His death was due to organic heart trouble complicated with rheumatism and he had been an invalid since last February. Funeral services were held at the residence Tuesday afternoon by Rev. W. B. Wright, of Dawson. The interment was in the Foster burying ground, one mile north of Crofton.

Mr. Croft was one of the best and most influential citizens of North Christian and was entitled to a large share of the credit of building up the prosperous town in which he lived and died.

IN HENSON'S OWN COUNTY

Splendid Ovation Given Kinche-loe In Henderson Saturday,
Delights His Friends.

The crowd of voters which filled the court house Saturday afternoon was evidently a Kinche-loe crowd, and although the mercury hovered around the 100 mark, and Kinche-loe came last on the bill, enthusiastic applause greeted the speaker and continued at short intervals throughout his speech. The house passively received Judge Henson's remarks, who now and then was accorded light ripples of applause.

While Judge Henson was concluding his speech, cries of "Kinche-loe, Kinche-loe!" rang through the room, and when Judge Dorsey took the stand to introduce Mr. Kinche-loe, he admonished the crowd to accord the speakers all courtesy due them.

Kinche-loe took the stand amid a round of uproarious applause, and during the first thirty minutes of his speech, in which he accused Judge Henson of wanting to grab a new office before he had served his term as Circuit Judge, the applause continued at frequent intervals.

Kinche-loe said Judge Henson didn't want to be weaned from office. This elicited thunderous applause and it was easily seen that fully three-fourths of the immense crowd was heartily in sympathy with Kinche-loe. Henderson Daily Journal, Sunday morning, July 25, 1914.

Cla-keville, Tenn., July 27. The trestle approaching Sycamore creek, on the Tennessee Central railroad, five miles this side of Ashland City, caught fire last night and four bents were burned out before the fire was extinguished.

The train from here to Nashville this morning went only as far as the scene and turned back, taking the place of the train due here at 10:10 from Nashville. Some time was lost in transferring the passengers, and it did not reach here on the return trip until 12 o'clock.

Lexington Political Writer Of Cincinnati Enquirer Makes Predictions.

Thomas B. Cromwell, political writer from Kentucky for the Cincinnati Enquirer, after making a thorough investigation for his paper gives the counties in this district as follows:

Counties	Kinche-loe	Henson
Christian	1,700	700
Daviess	3,500	500
Hancock	450	100
Henderson	1,000	1,500
Hopkins	2,300	200
McLean	1,100	100
Union	1,200	1,300

Totals..... 11,850 4,400
This leaves Webster county out and since the friends of both candidates are claiming it, it would not likely change the result.

Beckham's Home County.

A lices from Frankfort last night were to the effect that the local option election there would be postponed. It seems that in some way "big" politics is mixed up with the local liquor situation and it was not deemed expedient to have the wet and dry campaign before the November election. Lexington Leader.

This is a corroboration of the report that a trade had been made with the liquor people in Franklin county, whereby the election would be called off, if they would vote for, and work for Beckham's nomination and the saloon-keepers and distillers, of Frankfort are for Beckham. Shelby Record.
